Nathan – The reason I asked about costs this morning in my e-mail is it looks like our estimate of costs may be as high as $750 now. I apologize for this nickel and dimeing of costs. Can you go that high? If no, that is fine. I will be able to get you most of what you have requested. There are just some documents in several contractor close out files that EPA's present business practice is to not scan these documents and just file them at the folder level. As a result, to search these for responsive documents, prepare and scan these documents is estimated to require up an additional 10 hours for one person, or at the top FOIA billing rate of $28 per hour an extra $280.

Let me know what you think.

Ok. Thank you Richard. $500 is fine.

Nathan

Nathan – EPA’s records system has been down since last Thursday evening due to an upgrade and they have had issues with getting it back up and operating, therefore, the rest of our responses to your requests are going to be delayed a few more days.

Also, I need to confirm what you said you would pay for this FOIA? Was it up to $500?
